

DECLARATION OF INTENTIONS

Can Ruti Campus Working Group for Women in Science

The role of women in society worldwide is necessary and key. In science in particular, currently there are clear deficiencies in the protection of the rights of women to develop their research careers. From this Working Group we are committed to work against this unfair reality in the Can Ruti Campus.

We manifest the following commitments. Please, sign this declaration if you agree with them.

I am truly committed to:

- 1) Encouraging girls and young women to explore scientific paths in their individual careers.*
- 2) Promoting mentoring and networking for women scientists to enable them to plan and develop professional trajectories that meet their expectations.*
- 3) Working against the barriers and difficulties that may hinder the entry and long-term projection of women into professional science or the tasks of women scientists in their research careers.*
- 4) Defending the access of women to senior positions and leaderships in sciences as a normal and regular process in the development of their professional careers.*
- 5) Ensuring gender equality through participation and leadership in grant submissions, symposiums, publications, scientific commissions, decision boards, and in any other activity involving research and scientific activity.*
- 6) Sharing and celebrating with the general public the contribution that women scientists make to scientific progress and to society.*
